

The soft hate song
(words and music Lee Maddeford)

You say you love someone but I know it isn't true to love someone
you have to love yourself and everybody knows

to read a story through you have to take the book down from the shelf

you're so strong
everyone is wrong but you you're so right
you always know just what to do you have opinions and we all have to agree

your obstinate and
so damn hard to please

and if I loved you once I don't recall what for and I won't go on pretending anymore

you're so strong
everyone is wrong but you
your so right
you always know just what to do